FIELD DAY
THEATRE COMPANY

DOUBLE CROSS

By Thomas Kilroy
A.T. Cross are honoured to put their signature to the Field Day Production of Thomas Kilroy's new play "Double Cross".

"Break a leg!"

Cross®
Since 1846
DOUBLE CROSS

By Thomas Kilroy
Field Day Theatre Company was founded by Stephen Rea and Brian Friel.

It is a limited company with charitable status.

Directors
Brian Friel
Stephen Rea
Seamus Deane
David Hammond
Seamus Heaney
Tom Paulin

Corporate Patrons
Allied Irish Banks
Bank of Ireland
The American-Irish Foundation
The Ireland Fund

Field Day Theatre Company acknowledges with deep gratitude the financial assistance of the Arts Council of Northern Ireland and the Arts Council (An Chomhairle Ealaion), and the tour sponsors A. T. Cross of Ballinasloe, manufacturers of fine writing instruments.

We are indebted to the Derry City Council and the Guildhall staff for putting their facilities at our disposal and for their continuing support.

Printed in Ireland by Nicholson and Bass Limited
Thomas Kilroy was born in Callan, Co. Kilkenny. He has written the following stage-plays: The Death and Resurrection of Mr Roche, The O'Neill, Tea and Sex and Shakespeare, Talbot's Box and adapted Chekhov's The Seagull. His novel The Big Chapel was awarded the Guardian Fiction Prize and the Heinemann Award of the Royal Society of Literature. His radio play, That Man, Bracken will be beamed on B.B.C. Radio 3 later this year. He is completing a film script on W. B. Yeats and the women in his life for R.T.E. and is also at work on a new novel, Angela, Falling from Grace. Thomas Kilroy is Professor of Modern English at University College, Galway.

Author's Note
There is no evidence that Brendan Bracken and William Joyce ever met nor, indeed, that they were ever aware of one another's existence. I have yoked them together in this play so that they might inhabit the one dramatic idea. For those who would like an accurate, historical account of the two men there are two excellent biographies: Brendan Bracken by Charles Edward Lysaght and Lord Haw-Haw by J. A. Cole.

I was drawn to the stories of these two men out of an interest in doubleness or doubling, that is, the way things repeat themselves in life or attract their opposites. This, of course, is the basis of acting or role-playing. It is also behind the universal desire of people to make up and tell stories, thereby inventing a reality which may reflect everyday life but is still distinct from it. This is a play which tries to move along the lines from role-playing and fiction-making to the act of political treason. Bracken is an actor at loose in the world of English politics and what used to be called Society. Clearly it was a world susceptible to the charm of a master thespian. Joyce, in the play, is a creator of fictions, driven to this out of a deep, angry impatience with life as it really is. This is the only way in which I can comprehend the essentially suicidal energy at the root of fascism.

To surrender to a vision of doubleness is to see most human behaviour (including one's own of course) within a field of irony. Nowhere is this more evident than in politics where human behaviour may seem at its most crude and simplistic. Oppression disables personality. But it also, profoundly diminishes the humanity of the oppressor. It creates grotesque distortions in an oppressed culture inhibiting growth, development, change. But it effects a little rigidity in the invader, the conqueror, the would-be 'superior', that balmy, paralytic stare of racism. This play attempts to deal with one kind of inability, one kind of action across the barriers, those simple codes which separate countries from one another. It is the kind of action which is usually called treason. To base one's identity, exclusively, upon a mystical sense of place rather than in personal character where it properly resides seems to me a dangerous absurdity. To dedicate one's life to the systematic betrayal of that ideal seems to me equally absurd.

This play could not have been written without Field Day. Some years ago Field Day asked me to write one of their Pamphlets and I completely failed to do so. It was round about that time that I decided to try and write a play for the company instead, addressing the kind of topics which Field Day has restored to serious debate in this country. For me, Field Day is the most important movement of its kind in Ireland since the beginning of this century. It has provided a platform for the life of the mind, of whatever persuasion, at a time when mindlessness threatens to engulf us all.

Thomas Kilroy
William Joyce (1906–1946)

1906, 24th April
William Joyce born Brooklyn, New York, of an Irish father and English mother.

1909
Joyce family move to Ireland.

1909–1913
Joyce’s father becomes a publican in Ballinrobe, Co. Mayo.

1913–1921
Joyce family move to Galway, where Michael Joyce becomes a landlord of barracks occupied by the Royal Irish Constabulary.

1918–1919
Michael Joyce’s property burnt out by Sinn Féin supporters.

1920
William Joyce volunteers as an informer to the R.I.C.

1921
Joyce arrives in England, ahead of his family. Years later he claims this was due to the fact that his ‘intelligence activities’ were known to the Irish Republican Army.

1922
Joyce becomes a student at Battersea Polytechnic, studying science.

1923–1927
Studies English Language and Literature, and History at Birkbeck College, London University.

1923
Joins British Fascists.

1927
Aged 21, married Hazel Kathleen Barr, and has two children.

1928
Studies for one year’s post-graduate course in Philology.

1928–1930
Speaks for and assists Conservative Party.

1933
Applies for British passport.

1933–1937
Becomes a member of Sir Oswald Mosley’s party, the British Union of Fascists.

1934
Joyce and Mosley acquitted on a charge of riotous assembly.

1936
First marriage dissolved.

1937
Marries Margaret Cairns White, whom he had met at a Fascist meeting. Splits from Mosley and forms the National Socialist League.

1938–1939
Charges of assault dismissed in court.

1939
Orders disbandment of National Socialist League.

1940
Travels to Germany, with Margaret, one month before war is declared. Joins German Radio. Given the nick-name ‘Lord Haw-Haw’ by a Daily Express journalist. Joyce definitely identified by B.B.C. monitors.

1942
Becomes chief commentator on German Radio for English Group.

1943
Joyce sues Margaret for divorce, on the grounds of infidelity. She counters with a charge of cruelty. Their divorce is granted. Joyce and Margaret re-marry.

1944
Awarded War Service Cross (a civilian award), by Hitler. German passport issued to William Joyce in name of ‘William Hansen’.

1945

1946, 3rd Jan.
William Joyce was hanged at Wandsworth Prison, aged 39.
Brendan Bracken (1901–1958)

1901, 15th Feb. Brendan Bracken born in Templemore, Co. Tipperary. His father, Joseph Bracken was a prosperous builder, founder member of the Gaelic Athletic Association and a strong supporter of the Republican Movement.

1904 Bracken's father dies.

1908 Family move to Dublin and Brendan sent to school run by Christian Brothers.

1915 A somewhat unruly youth, Bracken sent to a Jesuit boarding school near Limerick. Runs away at the start of the following term. According to a family friend Bracken's mother decides to send him to friends in Australia because he has shown interest in the Irish Republican Youth Movement.

1916 Arrives in the state of Victoria.

1919 Returns to Ireland. His mother, now remarried in Navan, does not welcome him back.

1920 Bracken moves to Lancashire, where he works as a tutor. Combines this with teaching at Collegiate School, where his colleagues believe he is Australian.

Autumn Enrols as a pupil at Sedbergh, a public school in Cumbria. Gives his date of birth as 14th December 1904, claims to be an orphan. Leaves after a term – but with the 'old school tie'.

1920–1921 Movements unclear – held various teaching posts.

1922 Secures a post on the monthly Empire Review, an imperialist journal run by a Tory M.P.

1923 Bracken meets Winston Churchill, then in his 'wilderness years'. According to Churchill's eldest daughter, Diana, it was presumed Bracken was Churchill's son.

1924 Bracken builds up his business and publishing interests. Appointed to board of publishers Eyre and Spottiswoode.

1928 On behalf of Eyre and Spottiswoode, buys the Financial News (later to merge with the Financial Times), and The Economist.

1929 Adopted as Conservative candidate for North Paddington. Wins by a margin of 528 votes.

1931 Rumoured that Bracken, Churchill, Lloyd George and Sir Oswald Mosley meet to discuss a grand political alliance against the Labour Party. Joyce may also have attended this meeting.

1932 Proposes to Lady Pamela Smith, daughter of the late Earl of Birkenhead and is turned down. His affections turn to Churchill's god-daughter, Penelope Dudley Ward. Claims he never married because she refused him as well.

1935 A report appears in the Sunday Express that Bracken was greatly embarrassed when he had to show his birth certificate. The proprietor, Lord Beaverbrook sends a reporter to Ireland to investigate Bracken's background.

1939 Becomes Churchill's Parliamentary Private Secretary, at the Admiralty.

1940 Churchill appointed Prime Minister of an all-party government. Bracken becomes one of the youngest members of the Privy Council.

1941 Bracken appointed Minister of Information. Defends freedom of the Press and the independent position of the B.B.C.

1944 Evening Standard reproduces a story of 'fifty years ago' from the Waterford News that Bracken's father had been refused a gun licence, much to Bracken's fury.

1945 Loses parliamentary seat to Labour.

1947 Bracken stands for the Conservatives in Bournemouth and wins.

1950 Bouts of illness see Bracken cutting down on his business activities. Elected to his 'old school' board of governors at Sedburgh.

1951 Declines post of Colonial Secretary.

1952 Bracken elevated to the peerage as the Viscount Bracken of Christchurch. May have regretted acceptance, and he never took his seat in the Lords.

1958 Bracken diagnosed as having throat cancer, in January. Dies the following August, aged 57 years.
Field Day Theatre Company 1986

Middle: Julie Barber, Joe McGrath, Kate O'Toole, Consolata Boyle and Fiona MacMillan.
Front: Jim Sheridan, Stephen Rea, Jane Perrott and Brian Friel.
DOUBLE CROSS

By Thomas Kilroy

STEPHEN REA
Brendan Bracken M.P., Minister of Information
William Joyce, known as Lord Haw-Haw

KATE O’TOOLE
A Narrator
Popsie, an English lady
Margaret Joyce, wife of William Joyce
A Woman Journalist

RICHARD HOWARD
A Narrator
Lord Castlerosse, gossip columnist of Express newspapers
Lord Beaverbrook, owner of the Express newspapers
A Fire Warden
Erich, a German Anglophile and reader of
W. B. Yeats

PART ONE: The Bracken Play: London
PART TWO: The Joyce Play: Berlin

While the time of the play fluctuates, the basic setting is the early nineteen-forties during the bombing of London and Berlin.

There will be a 15 minute interval between Parts One and Two.

Director
JIM SHERIDAN
CONSOLATA BOYLE
RORY DEMPSTER
DOUGLAS LAING
THADDEUS O’SULLIVAN
RAY MARSTON
DAVID COYLE
JANE PERROTT
JOE McGRATH
CONLETH WHITE
FRANCIS MORGAN
JULIE BARBER
URSULA MCALLISTER
FIONA MacMILLAN (Tel: 0504 260196)
OLLIE JENNINGS (Tel: 091 21309)
MAURICE CASSIDY
LISA STIFLER

For the programme and poster the painting is the work of Basil Blackshaw.
Graphic design by Ralph Dobson.
Painting by Basil Blackshaw sponsored by the Northern Ireland Tourist Board.
Biographies

RICHARD HOWARD
Actor
Brought up in London. Trained at the Old Vic Theatre School in Bristol. Has wide experience in repertory theatre, in many London stage appearances include Lear and The Hostage at the Royal Court. Was a member of the National Theatre Company under the direction of Laurence Olivier. His work with Ken Campbell includes his epic play The Warp, which lasted 24 hours each performance!
His films include Oh, What a Lovely War and Inspector Clouseau, and for television Inheritance, Emmerdale Farm and Shine on Harvey Moon. Later this year he will be seen in John Mortimer's Paradise Postponed (I.T.V.).
Richard has toured throughout the world with the London Shakespeare Group. Recently toured with Joint Stock Theatre Company before joining the Lyric Players Theatre in Belfast for their production of Thomas Kilroy's adaptation of Chekhov's The Seagull.

STEPHEN REA
Actor and Co-Founder of Field Day
Born and educated in Belfast. After graduating from Queen's University he first joined the Abbey Theatre in Dublin, and later moved to London and Shadow of a Gunman at the Mermaid Theatre. He has performed in many plays at London's Royal Court and National theatres (amongst others), including Friel's Freedom of the City, Beckett's Endgame, and Trevor Griffith's Comedians. He has acted in all the Field Day productions, with the exception of Friel's adaptation of Chekhov's Three Sisters (1981) which he directed. He both directed and acted in The Boat Act (1984). While Field Day is central to his life as an actor, he continues to work in London, on stage, and more recently in film. Films include the leading role in Neil Jordan's Angel, Jordan's The Company of Wolves, Loose Connections, directed by Richard Eyre, and co-starring with Jonathan Pryce in Mel Brook's The Doctor and the Devils due to be released shortly.

CONSOLATA BOYLE
Set and Costume Designer
Born and educated in Dublin. Graduated from University College, Dublin in Archaeology and History. She trained at the Abbey Theatre, and was assistant Designer at the Peacock before leaving to go freelance. Since then she has worked for the Irish Theatre Company, T.E.A.M., the Project Arts Centre, the Jameson Dublin Theatre Festival and Field Day. Designed the set and costumes for Brian Friel's Translations in 1980. Recently she has designed costumes for film and television including The Outcasts, Attracta, Anne Devlin, The Irish R.M., and The Woman Who Married Clark Gable.

KATE O'TOOLE
Actor
Kate spent her early years in both London and Connemara. She trained in New York and has worked in America in numerous productions off-Broadway, including Stage Door, Candida and most recently Behan's The Hostage, filmed for P.B.S. television, at the Irish Arts Centre, New York. On American television Kate has appeared in a number of soap operas. Her first stage appearance was at the age of six months, when she was carried on by Dame Peggy Ashcroft in The Taming of the Shrew. This is her debut on the Irish stage.

JIM SHERIDAN
Director
Born in Dublin. Until 1980 was the Artistic Director of the Project Arts Centre, Dublin where, among others, he directed No Entry and The Liberty Suit by Peter Sheridan and Jim Plunkett's The Risen People. Also co-directed The Non-Stop Connelly Show with Margaret A'arcy and John Arden and directed plays at the Abbey Theatre, the Lyric Players Theatre, the Royal Court and the I.C.A. in London.
As an actor he played the young Behan opposite Niall Toibin in Borsht Boy and Tommy Owens in the Abbey's production of Shadow of a Gunman, which toured the U.S. in 1981.
Since moving to the U.S. has been Artistic Director of the Irish Arts Centre in New York, directing many plays there and off-Broadway. Has written a number of plays, and one, Spike won a Fringe First at the Edinburgh Festival. Recently wrote the official biography of Barry McGuigan.

RORY DEMPSTER
Lighting Designer
His extensive lighting career includes work at the Adelaide and Edinburgh Festivals, the Royal Shakespeare Company and the Riverside Studios in London. Recent work includes David Hare and Howard Brenton's Pravda at the National Theatre and Dance of Death in East Berlin. Rory has designed the lighting for all Field Day's productions since Three Sisters.
DOUGLAS LAING
Assistant Designer
Born in Glasgow. Studied stage management at the Royal Scottish Academy of Speech and Drama. Was Design Assistant at the Citizens’ Theatre in Glasgow for three years, has also worked for 7:84 Theatre Company, Scotland, T.A.G., and the Royal Lyceum Theatre in Edinburgh. Recently worked with the R.S.C. in London.

DUMPTY at the Arts Theatre, and Tea in a China Cup and Northern Star at the Lyric Players Theatre. Has also worked with Dublin City Ballet, Scottish Ballet, Scottish Opera and as a Floor Manager at the B.B.C.

CONLETH WHITE
Lighting Operator
Born in Limerick, brought up in Dublin. Began working in theatre six years ago. Was Production Manager at the SFX Centre and Lighting Operator at the Olympia in Dublin. Designed the lighting for the Dublin Youth Theatre’s productions of Drowning, You Are Invited, and most recently Our Day Out.

JULIE BARBER
Administrator
Born in Bangor, Co. Down. Educated in York, Belfast and Exeter University where she graduated in Law and Sociology. Worked as Publicity Assistant in the Coliseum Theatre, Oldham and the Royal Opera House, before spending a year on the City University Practical Training Scheme in Arts Administration. Following this she became General Manager of the Actors Touring Company, London. Joined Field Day in 1982 as Press Officer for the tour of The Communication Cord, and has been Administrator since 1983.

DAVID COYLE
Production Manager
Born in Strabane. Began his theatrical career as Acting A.S.M. at the Lyric Players Theatre, Belfast. Since then he has been involved in a wide variety of theatre activities. Recent stage performances include Macbeth and Catholics at the Lyric Theatre, Can’t Pay? Won’t Pay! and Sam Thompson’s Over the Bridge at the Arts Theatre, Chekhov’s The Bear with the Hourglass Theatre Company in the Group Theatre, Belfast, and a one man show Cuts by Neill Speers in the Fenderesky Gallery. Television work includes Mike Leigh’s Four Days in July, We’ll Support You Evermore, Graham Reid’s Ties of Blood, The End of the World Man by Marie Jackson, to be shown in the Spring, and Christina Reid’s recent radio play Last of a Dying Race.

BOAN EADE
Co-Founder of Field Day

BOAN EADE
Artistic Director

JANE PERROTT
Stage Management
Born in Limerick. Brought up in Dublin and educated in Dublin and the U.S.A. Began working in stage management at the Gate Theatre in Dublin where she stayed for three years. Has worked on a large variety of shows in Dublin including children’s shows, pantomimes and the Dublin Theatre Festival.

JANE PERROTT
Stage Management
Born in Limerick. Brought up in Dublin and educated in Dublin and the U.S.A. Began working in stage management at the Gate Theatre in Dublin where she stayed for three years. Has worked on a large variety of shows in Dublin including children’s shows, pantomimes and the Dublin Theatre Festival.

JOE McGRATH
Stage Management
Born in Belfast. Began working in theatre five years ago at the Arts Theatre in Belfast. Toured with Charabanc Theatre Company in Lay Up Your Ends, Da, A Life and The Death of Humphry

BASIL BLACKSHAW
Artist
Born in Glengormley, Co. Antrim. Studied at Belfast College of Art. In 1958 was represented at the Tate Gallery, London and exhibited for the first time with the Irish Exhibition of Living Art, Dublin. Had the first of many one man shows in Belfast in 1961. Received Arts Council of Northern Ireland portrait commissions in 1970, 1973 and 1975. His work is represented in all the major public and private collections in Ireland. This is the fifth year he has painted the design for Field Day’s posters and programmes.

URSULA McALLISTER
Administration Assistant
Born in Derry. Since leaving school has worked in various firms in the city doing secretarial and administrative work. First worked with Field Day on Boesman and Lena. Combines working in theatre with looking after her three sons.

TOMA MacMILLAN
Press/Publicity
Born in Fife, Scotland. After graduating from Edinburgh University in Politics and Modern History, worked in various arts organisations in Glasgow. For fifteen months was Publicity Officer with 7:84 Theatre Company, Scotland, in Edinburgh. Since moving to Belfast in June last year, has worked as freelance publicist with Fringe Benefits Theatre Company and at the Belfast Festival at Queen’s.

LISA STIFLER
Production Assistant
A native of Chicago, Lisa is presently doing a Ph.D. on Field Day at Queen’s University in Belfast. She is also a Rotary Scholar and previously completed an M.A. in Anglo-Irish Literature at University College, Dublin. For the past three years, Lisa has taught English in Brooklyn, New York.
Rehearsals in the Irish Club, London.
(left to right, clockwise around the table): David Coyle, Richard Howard, Thomas Kilroy, Stephen Rea, Jim Sheridan, Kate O'Toole.

Thomas Kilroy and Stephen Rea

Stephen Rea
(in rehearsal, January 1986).

Kate O'Toole and Richard Howard

The Riot Act
Nuala Hayes, Veronica Quilligan, Des McAleer, Hilary Reynolds, Mark Lambert.

Translations
Stephen Rea.
for 'Double Cross', and past productions

THREE SISTERS
Sorcha Cusack, Eileen Pollock, James Ellis.

THE COMMUNICATION CORD
Gerard McSorley, Pat Leavy, Stephen Rea.

HIGH TIME: Back Row: Des McAleer, Stephen Rea
Front Row: Mark Lambert, Nuala Hayes, Joe Crilly, Kilian McKenna, Veronica Quilligan, Hilary Reynolds, Ciaran Hinds.
Acknowledgements

Production Credits:
Spectacles by Brian Mooney, Opticians, Derry
Spectacles by Davidson and Hardy Ltd, Belfast
Cigars by Madden Brothers, Derry
Fabrics by Ken McGilloway, Butcher St., Derry
Christopher Prins of Cosprop, London
John Haynes for rehearsal photographs
Max Stafford-Clark and Serena Hill,
Royal Court Theatre, London
Dallas Smith, Hampstead Theatre, London
Tim Sutor of B.B.C.
Joe Mahon of B.B.C. Radio Foyle
Donal Flanagan of R.T.E.
Marshall Hopley and Carol Hanley of B.B.C. Northern Ireland
Risteard McGabhann and Brian Downey of University of Ulster (Magee College)
Mrs Dunsby
Seamus Ball and Colm Cavanagh of the North-West
Centre of Learning and Development

Field Day Credits:
Gary McKeone
Gerry McCloskey, New Monico Lounge Bar, Derry
Charities Aid Foundation
Joe McGuigan and Dick Sinclair,
Central Library, Derry
Quintin Oliver
Margo Harkin
Satnam’s Garage, Boating Club Lane, Derry
FIELD DAY PAMPHLETS
first series:
(Awarded the 1983 Sunday Independent Arts Award for Literature)

TOM PAULIN
A New Look at the Language Question

SEAMUS HEANEY
An Open Letter

SEAMUS DEANE
Civilians and Barbarians
‘A polemical and creative new perspective on Irish culture and history’.

IRISH TIMES
‘Handsome production, well printed and neatly designed . . . the three read together give an impression of the intractable complexity of the Ulster problem’.

FORTNIGHT magazine

FIELD DAY PAMPHLETS
second series:

SEAMUS DEANE
Heroic Styles: The Tradition of an Idea

RICHARD KEARNEY
Myth and Motherland

DECLAN KIBERD
Anglo-Irish Attitudes
‘Confident, interesting and intelligent’.

CYPHERS magazine
‘A rare flowering of intellectual vigour, good writing and a willingness to engage intellectual discussion with political realities’.

SUNDAY TRIBUNE

The First and Second series of Field Day Pamphlets are now out of print. However, they are available in IRELAND'S FIELD DAY, published by Hutchinson.

SEAMUS HEANEY
Sweeney Astray
Seamus Heaney's version of Buile Suibhne, one of the major achievements in the canon of medieval literature.
‘A work of the greatest literary note’.

POETRY REVIEW (London)

It takes a brilliant poet to capture in translation, the full range of pain and beauty in Sweeney's poetry, Seamus Heaney has produced an exhilarating version of this most unusual story poem.

NEW YORK TIMES BOOK REVIEW

SWEENEY ASTRAY is now out of print from Field Day Publications, but is available from Faber and Faber.

AVAILABLE NOW FROM ALL LEADING BOOKSHOPS

FIELD DAY PAMPHLETS
third series: £5/IR£6

THE PROTESTANT IDEA OF LIBERTY

TERENCE BROWN
The Whole Protestant Community: The Making of a Historical Myth

MARIANNE ELLIOTT
Watchmen in Sion: The Protestant Idea of Liberty

ROBERT McCARTNEY
Liberty and Authority in Ireland
‘Cogent and original (they) give the reader a real sense of the rich complexity involved’.

IRISH TIMES
‘Most interesting . . . Presbyterians, and others also, may learn much from them if we are ever going to be able to create a social order in Ireland which provides for the welfare of all without injustice to minorities or crushing individual conscience’.

John Barkley in THE LINENHALL REVIEW

Available in bookshops throughout Ireland priced £5/IR£6 per set, or direct from FIELD DAY, 22 Waterloo Place, Derriy BT48 6BU (plus 50p postage)

The fourth series of Field Day Pamphlets is in preparation.

Ireland’s Field Day
by the
Field Day Theatre Company

The first six titles in the Pamphlets series now published in book form, with an afterword by the distinguished critic Professor Denis Donoghue.

Contributions from
★ Tom Paulin ★ Seamus Heaney
★ Seamus Deane ★ Richard Kearney
★ Declan Kiberd ★ Denis Donoghue

Published November 1985
£10.85 cased 091626404
£5.95 paper 091626412

HUTCHINSON EDUCATION
Brookmount House, 62/65 Chandos Place, London WC2N 4NW
YOU ASKED FOR SERVICE . . . WE LISTENED

At British Midland we believe in listening to what our passengers have to say, and when you asked for a better service on our Belfast – Heathrow route – we improved it.

For instance, we’ve added seven extra flights each week day with a tasty menu on every flight. So now you can enjoy a hot breakfast on the early morning flight to London and relax with afternoon tea or a hot dinner on your return journey.

We’ve also cut the cost of flying with our unbeatable business day return fare and we’ve introduced a special time saver ticket scheme to help companies save on air fare costs.

But that’s only the beginning, because we recognise there is always room for further improvement – even in the finest service.

For further details, contact your travel agent for these and our full range of fares or phone our Reservations Numbers:
Belfast 225151
Londonderry 261024

British Midland
The Airline that gave you a voice